

Living the Resurrection Reality

▼ Click on a study title you'd like to see ▼

- 2 Study 1: THE RESURRECTION IS GOOD NEWS
Our faith is not in vain.
Leader's Guide — Participant's Guide
- 10 Study 2: THE RESURRECTION HAPPENED INDEED!
It all comes down to this.
Leader's Guide — Participant's Guide
- 17 Study 3: THE RESURRECTION IS JUST THE BEGINNING
This is our lifeline.
Leader's Guide — Participant's Guide
- 23 Study 4: THE RESURRECTION BODY IS BUILT FOR HEAVEN
The seeds come up and bloom.
Leader's Guide — Participant's Guide
- 31 Study 5: THE RESURRECTION BRINGS VICTORY OVER DEATH
It doesn't sting anymore.
Leader's Guide — Participant's Guide
- 39 Study 6: THE RESURRECTION ALLOWS UNWAVERING FAITHFULNESS TO CHRIST
There is life after victory.
Leader's Guide — Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Is Good News

Leader's Guide

Leader's Guide

The Resurrection Is Good News

Our faith is not in vain.

When a friend told Pastor Lee Eclov that he had a tee time reserved for Easter Sunday morning, Eclov replied, "This day we celebrate the most important thing that ever happened in human history, and you're going to play golf?!"

When you really think about it, though, it's astonishing how lightly people take the commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Fact is, sometimes even we who believe it grow a bit dull to what it means. So what does the Resurrection mean? This Bible study looks to 1 Corinthians 15 to answer that question.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:1-11

Based On: "Not In Vain," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Is Good News

Leader's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Note to Leader: Provide each person with the Participant's Guide, included at the end of this study.

There are two related epic, monumental, historical events that don't fit under the umbrellas of "religion" or "philosophy of life": (1) the death of Jesus of Nazareth, the self-proclaimed Son of God, on a Roman cross; and (2) his literal and bodily resurrection from the grave three days later, never to die again.

What most people who are not Christians do is to regard those things like reports of UFOs. Maybe they happened, maybe they didn't; but either way, who's to say what they mean?

The Bible says there is no question about what those two linked events mean, and what the Bible says they mean is at the very heart and center of the Christian faith. These two events are not historical curiosities, wonders without explanations. These two events were God "breaking and entering" into our world and they demand meaning. If someone tells you how sure they are of their atheism or their Buddhism or their Judaism, you have the right to say, "Yes, but what do you do with Jesus' deity and death? And what do you do with the historical fact of his resurrection?" Without an explanation—a meaning—their philosophy is not consistent with reality.

First Corinthians 15 is Paul's explanation of what the resurrection of Jesus Christ means. One famous writer, J. B. Phillips, called it "the most important chapter in the Bible."

Discussion Questions:

- [Q] How do you celebrate Easter?
- [Q] How have you heard non-Christians talk about the Resurrection?
- [Q] Sometimes even we who believe in the Resurrection grow a bit dull to what it means. How has that been true of you?
- [Q] When and how did you first discover the truth of Jesus' resurrection from the dead? What was your reaction?
- [Q] How do you keep the reality of the Resurrection meaningful in your everyday life?

The Resurrection Is Good News

Leader's Guide

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: The Good News is Jesus' death on the cross for our sins.

Stripped of meaning, the historical fact says that Jesus of Nazareth was crucified on a Roman cross. First Corinthians 15:3 tells us what that means: that the Christ—God's Messiah—died for our sins on that cross. Jesus of Nazareth was the Messiah—the Christ, the great Delivering King whom God had long promised Israel. But instead of liberating Israel from the Romans, he was killed—stone-cold dead—and was buried like dead people always are. But the meaning is that he died as a willing sacrifice, not a helpless victim, to enable God to justly forgive sinners like us, and to give us a safe and loving relationship with God as our heavenly Father.

The Bible tells us what Jesus' death means. It is not a senseless killing, nor an event in search of an explanation. God's requirement of a sacrifice for sin is all over the Old Testament, including the explicit promises of Isaiah 53 that “the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all.” This is the great hope of Christianity. God sent his Son, his Messiah, to die for our sins so we don't have to. Read 1 Corinthians 15:1–11.

[Q] How would you explain the gospel in a nutshell?

[Q] How does Paul distill Christianity down to its absolute essence in this passage?

[Q] What does it mean to “receive” this gospel, or to “hold firmly to the word” that Paul preached?

[Q] What are the reasons this historical incident is good and meaningful news? Jot down your thoughts as you read through the passage again and share them with the group.

Teaching Point Two: The Good News is also Jesus' resurrection from the dead.

The second event that demands meaning was when God raised Christ—his Messiah—from the dead on the third day after he died, never to die again. Death is the stain and stink of human existence. Death ruins lives and life. The resurrection of Jesus Christ was the mighty God “bringing the chaos back into order”!

The resurrection of Jesus Christ, not back to his old life, but to a new kind of life, is the single most significant event in human history. It overcame the single greatest limitation on human beings—death. In raising Jesus to new life, God changed the entire meaning of human existence. He completely redefined our word life. This was the eighth day of creation, the re-creation of a new race of humanity, a race of people who are no longer mortal, but immortal. Lots of people believe in life after death. But Jesus' resurrection from the dead defines life after death. There isn't any other kind of life after death besides that which Jesus initiated.

The Resurrection Is Good News

Leader's Guide

[Q] What does it mean that Jesus “conquered death”?

[Q] What is significant about Paul saying Jesus was raised on the third day “according to the Scriptures”?

[Q] What do you imagine it was like for the 12, or the 500, to whom Jesus appeared? What might have been their initial reactions? What may have been the long-term effects on them?

[Q] How does Jesus redefine our word life?

Optional Activity:

Purpose: To reconsider the reality and meaning of the Resurrection.

Activity: As a group, view a movie clip (or a whole film) depicting Jesus' death and resurrection. Some possible films: 1977's Jesus of Nazareth; Mel Gibson's The Passion of the Christ; Campus Crusade for Christ's The Jesus Film; even The Lion, The Witch, and The Wardrobe. Check your church or local library for these items.

Teaching Point Three: The Good News is available even to the worst of us.

Remember how Paul said he was the last of the eyewitnesses of the risen Christ? He marvels at this not only because he saw Jesus long after he had ascended into heaven, but because he felt he was the last person on the face of the earth who deserved to see Jesus (15:9–11). Paul, the persecutor and murderer of Christians, the hater of Jesus himself, is proof that no one is out of the reach of God's grace. If God would save him from his sins, and give him the holy honor of serving God, well, he can surely do it for anyone who believes “that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures.” Look again 1 Corinthians 15:9–11.

[Q] Have you ever felt as though you were “out of reach of God's grace”? Explain.

[Q] What does this passage tell you about Paul?

The Resurrection Is Good News

Leader's Guide

[Q] What does it tell you about God's grace?

[Q] What encourages you here, and how does it motivate you?

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

The apostle Paul concludes in verse 11, "... this is what we preach, and this is what you believed." If you are a Christian, this is the heart of your faith. God's good news is not just that we can have him in our lives, but that he will put his life in ours—abundant and invigorating now, and death-defeating and eternal forever.

Does your way of looking at the world—your philosophy of life—account for these two incontrovertible historical events: the death of Christ for our sins and his resurrection three days later, never to die again? Would you like to have God, alive and loving, in your life? What better time to be born again, this time not as a mortal, but as an immortal in the likeness of the risen Christ!

Action Point: If you have not put your trust in this good, meaningful news of Jesus, then tell God you believe, that you want to receive forgiveness for your sins, and that you want new life in Jesus.

Or if you've already done that, think about what it means for your life that Jesus rose from the dead. Spend some time alone worshiping God over those truths. Then jot down some thoughts on how they motivate you to action!

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Is Good News

Participant's Guide

Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Is Good News

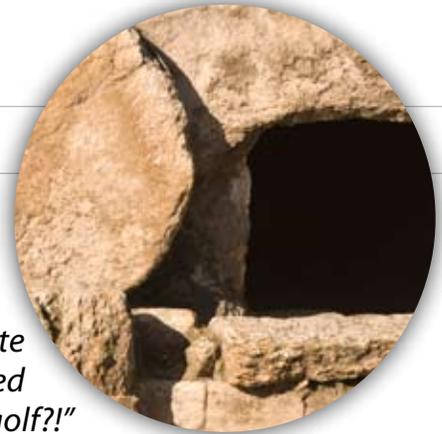

Our faith is not in vain.

When a friend told Pastor Lee Eclov that he had a tee time reserved for Easter Sunday morning, Eclov replied, "This day we celebrate the most important thing that ever happened in human history, and you're going to play golf?!"

When you really think about it, though, it's astonishing how lightly people take the commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Fact is, sometimes even we who believe it grow a bit dull to what it means. So what does the Resurrection mean? This Bible study looks to 1 Corinthians 15 to answer that question.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:1-11

Based On: "Not In Vain," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Is Good News

Participant's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

There are two related epic, monumental, historical events that don't fit under the umbrellas of "religion" or "philosophy of life": (1) the death of Jesus of Nazareth, the self-proclaimed Son of God, on a Roman cross; and (2) his literal and bodily resurrection from the grave three days later, never to die again.

What most people who are not Christians do is to regard those things like reports of UFOs. Maybe they happened, maybe they didn't; but either way, who's to say what they mean?

The Bible says there is no question about what those two linked events mean, and what the Bible says they mean is at the very heart and center of the Christian faith. These two events are not historical curiosities, wonders without explanations. These two events were God "breaking and entering" into our world and they demand meaning. If someone tells you how sure they are of their atheism or their Buddhism or their Judaism, you have the right to say, "Yes, but what do you do with Jesus' deity and death? And what do you do with the historical fact of his resurrection?" Without an explanation—a meaning—their philosophy is not consistent with reality.

First Corinthians 15 is Paul's explanation of what the resurrection of Jesus Christ means. One famous writer, J. B. Phillips, called it "the most important chapter in the Bible."

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: The Good News is Jesus' death on the cross for our sins.

Teaching Point Two: The Good News is also Jesus' resurrection from the dead.

Teaching Point Three: The Good News is available even to the worst of us.

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

The apostle Paul concludes in verse 11, "... this is what we preach, and this is what you believed." If you are a Christian, this is the heart of your faith. God's good news is not just that we can have him in our lives, but that he will put his life in ours—abundant and invigorating now, and death-defeating and eternal forever.

The Resurrection Is Good News

Participant's Guide

Does your way of looking at the world—your philosophy of life—account for these two incontrovertible historical events: the death of Christ for our sins and his resurrection three days later, never to die again? Would you like to have God, alive and loving, in your life? What better time to be born again, this time not as a mortal, but as an immortal in the likeness of the risen Christ!

Action Point: If you have not put your trust in this good, meaningful news of Jesus, then tell God you believe, that you want to receive forgiveness for your sins, and that you want new life in Jesus.

Or if you've already done that, think about what it means for your life that Jesus rose from the dead. Spend some time alone worshiping God over those truths. Then jot down some thoughts on how they motivate you to action!

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Leader's Guide

Leader's Guide

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

It all comes down to this.

Bodies are a pain. Oh, I know a body can be beautiful: a Baryshnikov dance, babies, and so on. And the psalmist said, "I am fearfully and wonderfully made." But still, bodies are a pain. There is so much we cannot do. There are so many times our body's desires, demands, faults, and frailties stymie our heart and mind and spirit. No wonder that when the Greek philosophers were shaping a religion, many of them ditched the body after it died and envisioned immortality as spirits free of the millstone of their bodies. To the contrary, this discussion will show the importance of Christ's bodily resurrection.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:12-20

Based On: "It All Comes Down to This," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Leader's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Note to Leader: Provide each person with the Participant's Guide, included at the end of this study.

Some of the first Christians in Greece during the first century were happy to hear that Jesus is the Savior who forgives our sins, that he is the Son of God, even that he lives forever. But they nixed the whole resurrection-of-the-body business. "Can't be!" they said. "Bodies are a pain. They're baggage. Once they're in the ground, that's where they stay. Good riddance!"

So the apostle Paul wrote them a letter. "There are two things every new Christian gets right at the beginning," Paul said, in effect. I received these two truths when I became a Christian, and these are the first two things I preached to you, and that you received: (1) Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures, and he was buried; (2) He was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures, and he appeared in his new body to all kinds of witnesses in all kinds of places. ... Whether you heard it from those witnesses or from me, this is what we preach and this is what you believed. But if it is preached that Christ has been raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead?

Today, there are all kinds of reasons why people do not believe in physical resurrection. And there are many who do not believe that Jesus himself rose physically from the dead. In this part of this long chapter on the resurrection, Paul says this: If bodily resurrection is not possible, you take away the resurrection of Jesus. And if you take the resurrection of Christ from Christians, you take all we have.

Discussion Questions:

- [Q] Without going into detail, what's hurting on, or in, your body right now? Or when did you realize your body was not what it once was?
- [Q] What objections have you heard in response to the bodily resurrection of Jesus?
- [Q] Who cares if Jesus rose bodily from the grave? What difference does it make?
- [Q] What convinced you of Jesus' bodily resurrection?

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Leader's Guide

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: Without the resurrection of Christ our faith is empty.

Someone sells you a big treasure chest. You give all you have for it. But when you open it, there's nothing inside. It's worthless. To deny the bodily resurrection of Christ is to gut Christianity. Without the resurrection, our Christian faith would be worthless because it would be empty. What would be lost "if Christ has not been raised"? Read 1 Corinthians 15:12–14.

[Q] Why would Paul have to write to Christians to convince them of Christ's bodily resurrection?

[Q] What evidence do you find of Christ's resurrection in the lives of believers around you? Your own life?

[Q] Are there any ways the church, and/or you, live as though the resurrection never happened? If so, how?

Teaching Point Two: Without the resurrection of Christ, we've been wrong about God.

We tell people all the time what God is like. We get our information from all over the Bible, but we get our most significant proof from the death and resurrection of Christ. But if God did not raise Jesus from the dead, we have misrepresented him. It was all speculation, at best. Lies, at worst. God is not at all who we say he is if he did not raise Christ. Read 1 Corinthians 15:15.

[Q] What caused you to put your faith in God in the first place?

[Q] If the resurrection was removed from the Scriptures and our belief statements, what kind of God would we be left with?

[Q] What kind of God do we worship, if indeed Christ is raised from the dead? What other things about God can we be sure of? Make a list and discuss it.

Teaching Point Three: Without the resurrection of Christ, our hope of salvation is futile.

When the apostle Paul says here, "your faith is futile," the Greek word carries the idea that it's worthless because it was either deceptive or powerless. It is a spiritual Ponzi scheme, the faith of one sucker feeding the faith of the next. In the end there are no assets. If Christ has not been raised, if there is no resurrection of the dead, then we are "still in our sins." Even if Jesus started the work of saving sinners on the cross, if he is still in the grave, then the debt he came to pay is still being paid. Justice is still not done. Jesus was wrong in his last words: it was not finished, and will never be finished, for God has nothing else up his sleeve—if Christ has not been raised. Read 1 Corinthians 15:16–19.

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Leader's Guide

[Q] What would it mean for our salvation or forgiveness of sin if Christ has not been raised? How would we obtain them?

[Q] Why is it not enough to hope in Christ just for this life?

[Q] What does Paul mean that if the Resurrection did not occur, “we are to be pitied more than all men”?

[Q] If Christ is indeed raised, what kind of salvation do we have? How does that truth motivate you?

Optional Activity:

Purpose: To consider the importance of the Resurrection in our life stories.

Activity: Provide each group member with pen and paper to write “anti-testimonies.” Imagine there was no Resurrection, thus no forgiveness or salvation. How would your life have turned out so far? Write a one-page narrative, like a testimony—but minus Jesus! Share these stories with your group. Have a time of thanksgiving afterwards as you are reminded of God’s rescue plan.

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

“But Christ has indeed been raised from the dead”! The Scriptures said it would be so, and it is so. Eyewitnesses have seen him, and our own lives are proof of it. Christ is risen indeed! So, our faith is not empty, but full and running over! We open the treasure chest to find treasures of every kind! What’s more, we are telling the truth about God. He really is our Redeemer and Lifegiver, the triumphant lover of our souls and our selves. Because Christ has indeed been raised from the dead!

Action Point: It’s letter-writing time! Who needs to hear the announcement: Christ has indeed been raised from the dead! Maybe it’s a friend or family member who needs to hear this for the first time. Maybe it is a discouraged believer. Or maybe you can write a thank you letter to the person who first proclaimed that message to you.

—Study by Lee Eclou, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Participant's Guide

Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

It all comes down to this.

Bodies are a pain. Oh, I know a body can be beautiful: a Baryshnikov dance, babies, and so on. And the psalmist said, "I am fearfully and wonderfully made." But still, bodies are a pain. There is so much we cannot do. There are so many times our body's desires, demands, faults, and frailties stymie our heart and mind and spirit. No wonder that when the Greek philosophers were shaping a religion, many of them ditched the body after it died and envisioned immortality as spirits free of the millstone of their bodies. To the contrary, this discussion will show the importance of Christ's bodily resurrection.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:12–20

Based On: "It All Comes Down to This," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Participant's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Some of the first Christians in Greece during the first century were happy to hear that Jesus is the Savior who forgives our sins, that he is the Son of God, even that he lives forever. But they nixed the whole resurrection-of-the-body business. “Can’t be!” they said. “Bodies are a pain. They’re baggage. Once they’re in the ground, that’s where they stay. Good riddance!”

So the apostle Paul wrote them a letter. “There are two things every new Christian gets right at the beginning,” Paul said, in effect. I received these two truths when I became a Christian, and these are the first two things I preached to you, and that you received: (1) Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures, and he was buried; (2) He was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures, and he appeared in his new body to all kinds of witnesses in all kinds of places. ... Whether you heard it from those witnesses or from me, this is what we preach and this is what you believed. But if it is preached that Christ has been raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead?

Today, there are all kinds of reasons why people do not believe in physical resurrection. And there are many who do not believe that Jesus himself rose physically from the dead. In this part of this long chapter on the resurrection, Paul says this: If bodily resurrection is not possible, you take away the resurrection of Jesus. And if you take the resurrection of Christ from Christians, you take all we have.

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: Without the resurrection of Christ our faith is empty.

Teaching Point Two: Without the resurrection of Christ, we’ve been wrong about God.

Teaching Point Three: Without the resurrection of Christ, our hope of salvation is futile.

The Resurrection Happened Indeed!

Participant's Guide

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

“But Christ has indeed been raised from the dead”! The Scriptures said it would be so, and it is so. Eyewitnesses have seen him, and our own lives are proof of it. Christ is risen indeed! So, our faith is not empty, but full and running over! We open the treasure chest to find treasures of every kind! What’s more, we are telling the truth about God. He really is our Redeemer and Lifegiver, the triumphant lover of our souls and our selves. Because Christ has indeed been raised from the dead!

Action Point: It’s letter-writing time! Who needs to hear the announcement: Christ has indeed been raised from the dead! Maybe it’s a friend or family member who needs to hear this for the first time. Maybe it is a discouraged believer. Or maybe you can write a thank you letter to the person who first proclaimed that message to you.

—Study by Lee Eclou, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

Leader's Guide

Leader's Guide

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

This is our lifeline.

The literal, bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ is a door we must walk through. On the other side of that door is our own hope of resurrection, and much more. As we continue our study of 1 Corinthians 15, we will see more of what lies beyond the door of the Resurrection.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:20–34

Based On: "Life Line," by Lee Ecloy, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

Leader's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Note to Leader: Provide each person with the Participant's Guide, included at the end of this study.

The great American writer John Updike died recently. All his life he vacillated between Christian faith and doubt. However, quite early in his career he wrote a poem for a religious arts festival. The poem was called “Seven Stanzas at Easter.”¹ In it, Updike reveals extraordinary insight into the importance of the bodily resurrection of Christ.

This study of 1 Corinthians 15:20–34 will explore the ways Christ's resurrection opens a door to our new life.

Discussion Questions:

- [Q] Have you ever known or heard of anyone who has had a “near death” experience? What were their lives like after these experiences?
- [Q] What do you think of when you hear the phrase “new life in Christ”?
- [Q] What difference does it make if Christ's resurrection was just a spiritual metaphor instead of a historic event?
- [Q] What does Christ's resurrection mean for us, his followers?

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: The Resurrection is the door to a re-created humanity.

When Adam sinned, it was like a mutant spiritual-death gene was introduced into his line, and every son or daughter of Adam since then has been infected with sin that dooms us to death. But Jesus, as fully human as we are—as completely Adam-ized—died in our place. As the Son of God he was of infinite value, capable of standing in for all other human beings when he died and rose again. And when he rose from the grave, it was God making an eighth day of creation. Here was a new Adam, a new Father of a new kind of humanity—people immune to the powers of sin and death. Read 1 Corinthians 15:20–22.

- [Q] What evidence of Adam's “sin disease” have you seen this week?

¹ Because of copyright laws, we cannot print the poem in this study. However, you will find it through the link we provided and can read it to your group if you desire.

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

Leader's Guide

[Q] How is Christ's resurrection a kind of "firstfruits" of harvest for us?

[Q] If it's true that Jesus is "a new Adam, a new Father of a new kind of humanity," what can we expect from life as his people?

[Q] The idea of "firstfruits" suggests a festival celebration. What do you have to celebrate after reading these verses?

Teaching Point Two: The Resurrection is the door to the rebellious world set right.

Christ's resurrection is the beginning of the end, from God's point of view. The point of these verses is that Christ's resurrection initiated a sequence of events by which all that is in rebellion against God, including death itself, will finally and forever be brought under God's sovereign authority, thanks to the mighty work of Jesus Christ. Read 1 Corinthians 15:23–28.

[Q] This is not a time for debate, but state briefly what you believe the Bible teaches about the future and the end of the world?

[Q] How does Christ's resurrection get the ball rolling on "a world set right"?

[Q] What images and emotions do these verses evoke in you? How do they encourage you?

[Q] All of Christ's work happens "so that God may be all in all." What does that mean?

[Q] What steps could you take this week to more clearly reflect that God is "all in all" for you?

Leader's Note: First Corinthians 15:29 is a confusing verse about baptism of the dead. Interpreters have disagreed on the meaning of this verse. But whatever it is, Paul does not necessarily approve it in this discourse just because he mentions it.

Teaching Point Three: Walking through the Resurrection door leads to a new life of dying.

Jesus said, "Take up your cross and follow me." We die to ourselves and to the world around us. Christians face persecution and even death. Read 1 Corinthians 15:30–32.

Paul said, "We always carry around in our body the death of Jesus" (2 Cor. 4:10). But why would you persevere in your faith, why put up with all this dying, self-sacrifice, persecution, and weakness, if there is no resurrection?

The ancient historian Herodotus tells of an Egyptian custom: "In the social meetings among the rich, when the banquet is ended, a servant carries round to the several guests a coffin, in which there is a wooden image of a corpse ... As he shows it to each guest in turn, the servant says, 'Gaze here, and drink and be merry, for when you die, such you will be.'" For us as believers the resurrection means we persevere in our faith because tomorrow matters more than today.

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

Leader's Guide

[Q] Do you agree that as believers "tomorrow matters more than today"? Why or why not?

[Q] Paul wrote, "... we endanger ourselves every hour ... I die every day." What did he mean by this?

[Q] In what ways have you suffered for the sake of the faith?

[Q] When do you get discouraged in your faith? Tell about a time you felt that "it's not worth it."

[Q] What, according to this passage, makes the sacrificial life worth it? What specifically about the resurrection reward helps you endure?

Optional Activity:

Purpose: To consider perseverance in the face of difficulty.

Activity: Go to opendoorsusa.org or persecution.com, and find out ways you can encourage and help persecuted believers around the world. Consider writing letters or providing Bibles.

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

John Updike's poem said, "Let us walk through the door." On the other side of the tomb's door is all that God has planned for the world to come, and every reason we need for living as Christians in the world now.

Action Point: In what specific ways could your life be a sign of God's coming kingdom, where a rebellious world is set right? You might immediately think that means volunteering to help with your church's middle-school youth ministry. That could very well be! It could also mean serving the "alien, fatherless, and widow" in your community. What ministries could use your help? How could you and your small group provide sacrificial, ongoing, relational ministry with your neighbors in these difficult situations?

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

Participant's Guide

Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

This is our lifeline.

The literal, bodily resurrection of Jesus Christ is a door we must walk through. On the other side of that door is our own hope of resurrection, and much more. As we continue our study of 1 Corinthians 15, we will see more of what lies beyond the door of the Resurrection.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:20-34

Based On: "Life Line," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Is Just the Beginning

Participant's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

The great American writer John Updike died recently. All his life he vacillated between Christian faith and doubt. However, quite early in his career he wrote a poem for a religious arts festival. The poem was called “Seven Stanzas at Easter.” In it, Updike reveals extraordinary insight into the importance of the bodily resurrection of Christ.

This study of 1 Corinthians 15:20–34 will explore the ways Christ’s resurrection opens a door to our new life.

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: The Resurrection is the door to a re-created humanity.

Teaching Point Two: The Resurrection is the door to the rebellious world set right.

Teaching Point Three: Walking through the Resurrection door leads to a new life of dying.

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

John Updike’s poem said, “Let us walk through the door.” On the other side of the tomb’s door is all that God has planned for the world to come, and every reason we need for living as Christians in the world now.

Action Point: In what specific ways could your life be a sign of God’s coming kingdom, where a rebellious world is set right? You might immediately think that means volunteering to help with your church’s middle-school youth ministry. That could very well be! It could also mean serving the “alien, fatherless, and widow” in your community. What ministries could use your help? How could you and your small group provide sacrificial, ongoing, relational ministry with your neighbors in these difficult situations?

—Study by Lee Eclou, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Leader's Guide

Leader's Guide

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

The seeds come up and bloom.

Someone hearing for the first time that the dead will be raised from the grave could easily picture something from a horror movie! Ghastly corpses climbing out of graves. Or maybe zombies, like The Night of the Living Dead. No thank you! I suspect most people imagine immortality, but very few (apart from Christians) imagine the resurrection of our bodies. After all, if these bodies are a pain before we die, they are surely not going to be an asset after we die! Some people, imagining the afterlife, picture themselves with bodies, but aren't completely sure how that body they're imagining will get there. We can find out more in the Bible's most important chapter on the resurrection: 1 Corinthians 15.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:35-49

Based On: "When the Seeds Come Up," by Lee Eclov,
PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Leader's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Note to Leader: Provide each person with the Participant's Guide, included at the end of this study.

Among the Christians in the ancient Greek city of Corinth, there were some who could not imagine the resurrection of the body to be a good thing. In verse 35, Paul repeats what he's heard. You have to read this question dripping with skepticism: "But someone may ask, 'How are the dead raised? With what kind of body will they come?'" They may have been picturing something out of The Night of the Living Dead. And Paul's response is, to put it in the vernacular, "That's stupid!"

Paul has already established in this chapter that Jesus Christ literally rose from the dead and appeared to many different people, and that everything we believe as Christians rests on that historical event. Now he turns his attention from Christ's resurrection to our resurrection. What will our bodies be like when they are raised from the dead? Paul is driving toward the statement he makes in verse 50: "I declare to you, brothers, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." In other words, you cannot get into heaven wearing what you're wearing. That old body of yours just will not do! We absolutely must have the resurrected bodies God promises if we want to live in the heavenly kingdom that awaits us.

Discussion Questions:

- [Q] What do you picture our bodies being like when they are raised from the dead?
- [Q] How do you imagine the dead will be raised?
- [Q] How do you think cremation or amputation affect our resurrection bodies?
- [Q] What age do you think we will appear in heaven?
- [Q] And, as long as we are at it, will there be dogs (and other animals) in heaven? The questions just start rolling, don't they?

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Leader's Guide

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: Our mortal bodies are the seeds of the bodies God will give us.

To understand how the resurrection works, look at what happens when we plant seeds. Imagine a tulip bulb. Is it a tulip? Not exactly. Now imagine a beautiful tulip. Where did it come from? From a bulb. How did that happen? The bulb was planted, and buried in the ground, and then the flower grew from it. Could God just make a tulip without the bulb? Yes, he could, but he doesn't do it that way.

These mortal bodies carry our essence—our souls, our lives—and when these mortal bodies are buried, God draws that essential part of us up into the new bodies he will give us, the way DNA and life flow from the bulb to the flower. You will still be you when God gives you a new body, because he draws the “you” in this mortal seed of your body into the “you” in the immortal flower of your resurrection body. Read 1 Corinthians 15:36–38.

[Q] Our earthly bodies are simply a seed for the harvest that our heavenly bodies will be. Why do you think this process is necessary?

[Q] What do these verses tell you about the God we worship?

[Q] How do these truths affect your daily life?

Optional Activity:

Purpose: To illustrate and remind us of our hope of resurrection bodies.

Activity: Set out some small clay pots, some soil, and some flower seeds (marigolds grow quickly). Take some time to plant them as a group, and perhaps even decorate the clay pots with encouraging verses from 1 Corinthians 15. You can keep the marigold pots in the place your small group meets, and note their growth. When they finally bloom you can have a time of worship together, remembering your future hope, then give the potted flowers to shut-ins or plant them outside as a reminder of God's promises.

Teaching Point Two: God always creates bodies splendidly suited to their environments.

Look at anything in nature and see how God has perfectly suited it for its environment. Fish can breathe underwater. Bears can sleep through cold winters. Butterflies can fly thousands of miles. When God shapes the bodies you and I as Christians will have in heaven, those bodies, springing from the seed of our earthly bodies, will be perfectly and splendidly suited for that new and extraordinary environment. Read 1 Corinthians 15:39–41.

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Leader's Guide

- [Q] What aspects of God's creation stun you?
- [Q] How do you picture heaven?
- [Q] What do these verses tell you about God the Creator?

Teaching Point Three: The body they bury will not be like the body God raises.

Our earthly bodies are destined to deteriorate and decay. But as the verse in “Amazing Grace” says, “When we've been there ten thousand years, / Bright shining as the sun, / We've no less days to sing God's praise / Than when we'd first begun.”

There's also an old gospel song that says, “Never grow old, never grow old/ In a land where we'll never grow old.” Imperishable! Our bodies are “sown in dishonor, [but] raised in glory.” Our resurrection bodies will be glorious. Read 1 Corinthians 15:42–44.

[Q] Which of the following truths about our resurrected bodies is most encouraging to you:

- “The body that is sown is perishable, it is raised imperishable” (v. 42)
- “It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory” (v. 43a)
- “It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power” (v. 43b)
- “It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body” (v. 44)

[Q] Why is the truth you picked so encouraging to you?

[Q] What do you think Paul means when he says our bodies will be “raised in glory”?

[Q] What is your reaction to this statement: “The landlord of your new body will be God's Spirit. You will still have your soul, but it will be God's Spirit who completely owns and moves you, with your soul as the happy tenant.” True or false? Why?

Teaching Point Four: Christ, the second Adam, guarantees us heaven-ready bodies.

God told Adam, “For dust you are, and to dust you will return.” But it is not so for the Adam from heaven. We do not know what substance that resurrected body is made from, but it is most certainly not dust! And whatever wonderful new matter made up Christ's body—matter that could pass through walls, yet enjoy food; matter that could walk, yet rise into the air; matter that could take on the disguise of an ordinary man and yet shine like the sun—whatever that matter is, that is what our bodies will be like in heaven. Bodies that are imperishable, glorious, powerful, and breathing with the Spirit of God.

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Leader's Guide

Read 1 Corinthians 15:45–49.

[Q] What can we look forward to according to this passage?

[Q] What promises are here for us?

[Q] In this passage Jesus is referred to as “life-giving spirit” and the “man from heaven.” What comfort or hope do you derive from these titles for your Savior?

[Q] What will you do with this guarantee of a future, heaven-ready body?

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

We don't think enough about the bodies God will give us at the resurrection. All we care about is that they won't be these bodies! But bodies are important to God. The human body is God's own creation, and he will create for us bodies that are perfectly suited to our heavenly home.

Joni Eareckson Tada, who has lived many years as a quadriplegic, said, “Don't assume that all I ever do is dream about springing out of this wheelchair, jumping up, dancing, kicking, doing aerobics. No, I'm looking forward to heaven because of a new heart, a heart free of sin, sorrow, selfishness. That beats having a new body any day.” That surely is wonderful—to think of perfect hearts. But what is so great is that God will give us new, glorious bodies suitable for hearts so righteous!

Action Point: Write a psalm of praise and wonder to God. Consider what he has created, and his upcoming re-creation. Share these psalms in your group. Or when you're alone, sing your psalm to God the Creator.

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Participant's Guide

Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

The seeds come up and bloom.

Someone hearing for the first time that the dead will be raised from the grave could easily picture something from a horror movie! Ghastly corpses climbing out of graves. Or maybe zombies, like The Night of the Living Dead. No thank you! I suspect most people imagine immortality, but very few (apart from Christians) imagine the resurrection of our bodies. After all, if these bodies are a pain before we die, they are surely not going to be an asset after we die! Some people, imagining the afterlife, picture themselves with bodies, but aren't completely sure how that body they're imagining will get there. We can find out more in the Bible's most important chapter on the resurrection: 1 Corinthians 15.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:35–49

Based On: "When the Seeds Come Up," by Lee Eclov,
PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Participant's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Among the Christians in the ancient Greek city of Corinth, there were some who could not imagine the resurrection of the body to be a good thing. In verse 35, Paul repeats what he's heard. You have to read this question dripping with skepticism: "But someone may ask, 'How are the dead raised? With what kind of body will they come?'" They may have been picturing something out of The Night of the Living Dead. And Paul's response is, to put it in the vernacular, "That's stupid!"

Paul has already established in this chapter that Jesus Christ literally rose from the dead and appeared to many different people, and that everything we believe as Christians rests on that historical event. Now he turns his attention from Christ's resurrection to our resurrection. What will our bodies be like when they are raised from the dead? Paul is driving toward the statement he makes in verse 50: "I declare to you, brothers, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." In other words, you cannot get into heaven wearing what you're wearing. That old body of yours just will not do! We absolutely must have the resurrected bodies God promises if we want to live in the heavenly kingdom that awaits us.

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: Our mortal bodies are the seeds of the bodies God will give us.

Teaching Point Two: God always creates bodies splendidly suited to their environments.

Teaching Point Three: The body they bury will not be like the body God raises.

Teaching Point Four: Christ, the second Adam, guarantees us heaven-ready bodies.

The Resurrection Body Is Built for Heaven

Participant's Guide

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

We don't think enough about the bodies God will give us at the resurrection. All we care about is that they won't be these bodies! But bodies are important to God. The human body is God's own creation, and he will create for us bodies that are perfectly suited to our heavenly home.

Joni Eareckson Tada, who has lived many years as a quadriplegic, said, "Don't assume that all I ever do is dream about springing out of this wheelchair, jumping up, dancing, kicking, doing aerobics. No, I'm looking forward to heaven because of a new heart, a heart free of sin, sorrow, selfishness. That beats having a new body any day." That surely is wonderful—to think of perfect hearts. But what is so great is that God will give us new, glorious bodies suitable for hearts so righteous!

Action Point: Write a psalm of praise and wonder to God. Consider what he has created, and his upcoming re-creation. Share these psalms in your group. Or when you're alone, sing your psalm to God the Creator.

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Leader's Guide

Leader's Guide

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

It doesn't sting anymore.

This series has been looking at why Jesus' resurrection from the dead matters, guided by the greatest chapter in the Bible on the subject, 1 Corinthians 15. In verses 50–57, Paul draws this great discussion to a stirring conclusion. Here is why the funeral of a believer ought to be completely different than any other funeral. Here is why Christians should live with a loose grip on life here, and need never tremble at the thought of death. Since Jesus Christ rose from the dead, we who believe in him are assured of two great promises.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:50–57

Based On: "It Doesn't Sting Anymore," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Leader's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Note to Leader: Provide each person with the Participant's Guide, included at the end of this study.

Sociologist Tony Campolo tells this story: "I went to my first black funeral when I was 16 years old. A friend of mine, Clarence, had died. The pastor was incredible. From the pulpit he talked about the Resurrection in beautiful terms. He had us thrilled. He came down from the pulpit, went to the family, and comforted them.

"Then, for the last 20 minutes of the sermon, he actually preached to the open casket. Now, that's drama! He yelled at the corpse: 'Clarence! Clarence!' He said it with such authority, I would not have been surprised had there been an answer ... He went down this litany of beautiful things that Clarence had done for people. When he finished ... he said, 'That's it, Clarence ... When there's nothing more to say, there's only one thing to say: Good night. Good night, Clarence!' He grabbed the lid of the casket and slammed it shut. 'Good night, Clarence!' Boom!

"Shock waves went over the congregation. As the preacher then lifted his head, you could see there was this smile on his face. He said, 'Good night, Clarence. Good night, Clarence, because I know, I know that God is going to give you a good morning!' The choir stood and starting singing, 'On that great morning, we shall rise, we shall rise.' We were dancing in the aisles and hugging each other. I knew the joy of the Lord, a joy that in the face of death laughs and sings and dances, for there is no sting to death."

This Bible study on 1 Corinthians 15 will consider the victory over death that the resurrection of Christ brings.

Discussion Questions:

- [Q] What's the "best" funeral you've ever been to? How so?
- [Q] What's the hardest funeral you've ever been to? Why?
- [Q] What do you hope your funeral will be like? Share the vision you have in your head (songs, speakers, etc.).
- [Q] How old were you when you first realized death was part of life?

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Leader's Guide

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: We will all be changed.

Author C. S. Lewis tried to imagine our new resurrection bodies in his story about life after death, The Great Divorce. He describes them this way:

I saw people coming to meet us. Because they were bright I saw them while they were still very distant, and at first I did not know that they were people at all ... The earth shook under their tread as their strong feet sank into the wet turf. A tiny haze and a sweet smell went up where they crushed the grass and scattered the dew. Some were naked, some robed. But the naked ones did not seem less adorned, and the robes did not disguise in those who wore them the massive grandeur of muscle and the radiant smoothness of flesh. Some were bearded but no one in that company struck me as being of any particular age. One gets glimpses, even in our country, of that which is ageless—heavy thought in the face of an infant, and frolic childhood in that of a very old man. Here it was all like that.

The good news of the resurrection is, “We shall all be changed!” Boom! And that is one great reason why Christians can dance in the aisles at a funeral. Read 1 Corinthians 15:50–53.

[Q] What do you think of C. S. Lewis’s vision of our resurrection bodies? How does your vision compare?

[Q] Why can’t flesh and blood inherit the kingdom?

[Q] What will that “twinkling of an eye” moment be like?

[Q] Are you ever afraid of death? If so, why? What do these assurances do for you?

[Q] How do they motivate you?

Teaching Point Two: Death has been swallowed up in victory.

John Donne was a great Christian who was a pastor in London in the early 1600s, through three waves of the Black Plague that killed thousands. For months, he thought he, too, was dying of the plague. But he wrote as one who understood this text in 1 Corinthians. These are the beginning and ending lines of one of his great sonnets:

*Death, be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so
For, those, whom thou think'st, thou dost overthrow,*

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Leader's Guide

*Die not, poor death, nor yet canst thou kill me ...
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And death shall be no more; Death, thou shalt die.*

Read 1 Corinthians 15:54–57.

[Q] What is the sting of death?

[Q] What does this passage tell you about Jesus and his power? How does he remove death's sting?

[Q] Paul taunts death in this passage. How could you do the same in practical ways this week?

[Q] What can you trust God for in this passage? How does that affect your life now?

[Q] Who do you know that needs to hear the truth of this passage?

Optional Activity:

Purpose: To reinforce an understanding of Christ's victory over death.

Activity: Provide for your group some newspaper obituaries to read through aloud. Now have each person write his or her own. Yikes! Include all the usual stuff, but add your hopes and assurances in Christ to the end of your preliminary obituary. Share these with the group. Or consider those in your church who have lost loved ones, maybe widows or widowers. How could you use the truth of this chapter to encourage them this week? Maybe it's a letter, an invitation to dinner, or help with a house project.

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

You're watching TV, and a commercial comes on where a man in a suit tells you about life insurance. He says you need it so that your family will be taken care of "in case the unthinkable should happen." Of course, by "the unthinkable" he means "in case you die." But the thing is, death isn't unthinkable; it's inevitable. The salesman is right about one thing: Death is something we'd be wise to prepare for. Thomas Brooks said, "Remember, all other preparations are to no purpose, if a man is not prepared to die ... As death leaves you—so judgment shall find you! As the judgment finds you—so shall eternity keep you!" So prepare for the inevitable by resting your hope on Christ for salvation and life. Thanks be to God! He gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Leader's Guide

Action Point: In our culture we often put off thoughts of death and the coming life. Take time for solitude this week to consider these things. Do you need to repent for loving this present life too much?

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Participant's Guide

Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

It doesn't sting anymore.

This series has been looking at why Jesus' resurrection from the dead matters, guided by the greatest chapter in the Bible on the subject, 1 Corinthians 15. In verses 50–57, Paul draws this great discussion to a stirring conclusion. Here is why the funeral of a believer ought to be completely different than any other funeral. Here is why Christians should live with a loose grip on life here, and need never tremble at the thought of death. Since Jesus Christ rose from the dead, we who believe in him are assured of two great promises.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:50–57

Based On: "It Doesn't Sting Anymore," by Lee Eclov,
PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Participant's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Sociologist Tony Campolo tells this story: “I went to my first black funeral when I was 16 years old. A friend of mine, Clarence, had died. The pastor was incredible. From the pulpit he talked about the Resurrection in beautiful terms. He had us thrilled. He came down from the pulpit, went to the family, and comforted them.

“Then, for the last 20 minutes of the sermon, he actually preached to the open casket. Now, that’s drama! He yelled at the corpse: ‘Clarence! Clarence!’ He said it with such authority, I would not have been surprised had there been an answer ... He went down this litany of beautiful things that Clarence had done for people. When he finished ... he said, ‘That’s it, Clarence ... When there’s nothing more to say, there’s only one thing to say: Good night. Good night, Clarence!’ He grabbed the lid of the casket and slammed it shut. ‘Good night, Clarence!’ Boom!

“Shock waves went over the congregation. As the preacher then lifted his head, you could see there was this smile on his face. He said, ‘Good night, Clarence. Good night, Clarence, because I know, I know that God is going to give you a good morning!’ The choir stood and starting singing, ‘On that great morning, we shall rise, we shall rise.’ We were dancing in the aisles and hugging each other. I knew the joy of the Lord, a joy that in the face of death laughs and sings and dances, for there is no sting to death.”

This Bible study on 1 Corinthians 15 will consider the victory over death that the resurrection of Christ brings.

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: We will all be changed.

Teaching Point Two: Death has been swallowed up in victory.

The Resurrection Brings Victory over Death

Participant's Guide

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

You're watching TV, and a commercial comes on where a man in a suit tells you about life insurance. He says you need it so that your family will be taken care of "in case the unthinkable should happen." Of course, by "the unthinkable" he means "in case you die." But the thing is, death isn't unthinkable; it's inevitable. The salesman is right about one thing: Death is something we'd be wise to prepare for. Thomas Brooks said, "Remember, all other preparations are to no purpose, if a man is not prepared to die ... As death leaves you—so judgment shall find you! As the judgment finds you—so shall eternity keep you!" So prepare for the inevitable by resting your hope on Christ for salvation and life. Thanks be to God! He gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Action Point: In our culture we often put off thoughts of death and the coming life. Take time for solitude this week to consider these things. Do you need to repent for loving this present life too much?

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

Leader's Guide

Leader's Guide

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

There is life after victory.

As Christians, we believe that Jesus rose from the dead and that he now holds the keys to death's dungeon. This study has explored some of what the Bible teaches about the significance—the meaning—of the resurrection for our lives. Its focus has been to help us move this central tenet of faith front and center in our thinking. At the conclusion of this study in 1 Corinthians 15, there is one verse of Scripture that tells us how believing the resurrection should affect the way we live now. The apostle Paul wrote in verse 58: "Therefore, my dear brothers, stand firm. Let nothing move you. Always give yourselves fully to the work of the Lord, because you know that your labor in the Lord is not in vain." This discussion will explore two effects our belief in the resurrection ought to have upon us as Christians.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:58

Based On: "Life After Victory," by Lee Eclow, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

Leader's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Note to Leader: Provide each person with the Participant's Guide, included at the end of this study.

Early in his career, the great American playwright Eugene O'Neill wrote an imaginative play called "Lazarus Laughed" about Lazarus's life after Jesus raised him from the dead. Near the beginning of the play, guests from Bethany are gathering for a banquet in Lazarus's honor. They are all desperate to hear what Lazarus has to say about his experience. One guest says, "The whole look of his face has changed. He is like a stranger from a far land. There is no longer any sorrow in his eyes. They must have forgotten sorrow in the grave."

Another guest, one who had helped roll the tombstone aside, recalls the scene after Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead: "And then Lazarus knelt and kissed Jesus' feet and both of them smiled and Jesus blessed him and called him 'My Brother' and went away; and Lazarus, looking after Him, began to laugh softly like a man in love with God. Such a laugh I never heard! It made my ears drunk! It was like wine! And though I was half-dead with fright I found myself laughing, too."

It does make you wonder what Lazarus was like after Jesus raised him back to life. We assume he eventually died again, mortal as he was, but one wonders how Lazarus's life changed once he knew with certainty that Jesus really is "the resurrection and the life."

Discussion Questions:

- [Q] How has this series on the resurrection affected your faith?
- [Q] If you were to write your own chapter title for 1 Corinthians 15, what would you call it?
- [Q] Who do you know that needs to hear the message of this chapter? When will you tell him or her?

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: The Resurrection empowers us to stand firm in our faith.

There are all kinds of threats to our faith, but if you take the resurrection of Christ from Christians you take all we have. Paul has argued for three non-negotiables in 1 Corinthians 15:

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

Leader's Guide

1. Jesus died and was buried, and then God literally and physically raised him from the dead. He was seen by all kinds of witnesses in various places, all in accordance with the promises of redemption and victory in the Old Testament.
2. Christ's resurrection guarantees every benefit the gospel promises us.
3. When Jesus returns at the trumpet call of God, those whose faith is in Christ will be changed. We will be given pure hearts and imperishable, immortal bodies.

What do we do with all that? Hang on to it tightly. Don't give an inch. Don't let doubters and mockers undermine your confidence in the historical event of Christ's resurrection.

[Q] What voices in culture attempt to cast doubt on the resurrection?

[Q] Has anything ever caused you to doubt the resurrection and, in turn, your faith? What?

[Q] What has bolstered your faith in Christ's resurrection and, in turn, your own future resurrection?

[Q] What promises are you guaranteed because of the resurrection? Make a list and discuss them as a group?

Teaching Point Two: Throw yourself confidently into serving the Lord.

You may think that "the work of the Lord" is what pastors and missionaries do. But that's not it. When you pray, that is the Lord's work. When you trust God for what you need or for an open door or for strength to do right, that is the Lord's work. When you obey a command that God sets before you, when you give someone a cup of cold water in Jesus' name, when you bear suffering for Jesus' sake, when you talk to someone about Jesus, when you confess your sins, and when you give up something here so that you might store up treasure in heaven, that is doing the Lord's work. When our energy or enthusiasm for the Lord's work runs low, when we would rather just give it a rest, the resurrection gives us reason to renew our efforts for Christ.

[Q] What has drained your energy for ministry lately? What has energized you?

[Q] How does the resurrection "give us reason to renew our efforts for Christ"?

[Q] How can we "know that [our] labor in the Lord is not in vain"?

[Q] What would it look like to "give yourself fully to the work of the Lord" tomorrow? This week?

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

Leader's Guide

Optional Activity:

Purpose: To encourage someone in the work of the Lord.

Activity: Discuss as a group, in light of this verse, how you could encourage someone who works tirelessly for the Lord. Perhaps someone in your church, a campus minister, or a youth-ministry volunteer could use some anonymous encouragement from your group. This could be in the form of notes, prayer, small gifts, Scripture, etc. Enjoy!

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

The Puritan pastor Thomas Brooks, at the funeral of Mrs. Martha Randall on June 28, 1651 (almost 360 years ago), must have had verse 58 in mind when he said:

See that you build upon nothing below Christ! See that you have a real interest in Christ; see that you die daily to sin, to the world, and to your own righteousness. See that conscience is always waking, speaking, and tender. See that Christ be your Lord and Master. See that all reckonings stand right between the Lord and your souls. See that you are fruitful, faithful, and watchful—and then your dying-day shall be to you as the day of harvest to the farmer, as the day of deliverance to the prisoner, as the day of coronation to the king, and as the day of marriage to the bride. Your dying-day shall be a day of triumph and exaltation, a day of freedom and consolation, a day of rest and satisfaction! Then the Lord Jesus shall be as honey in the mouth, ointment in the nostrils, music in the ear, and a jubilee in the heart.

Action Point: This series started with Paul's words: "Now, brothers, I want to remind you of the gospel I preached to you, which you received and on which you have taken your stand. By this gospel you are saved, if you hold firmly to the word I preached to you. ... For what I received I passed on to you as of first importance: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures ..." Take time to explore the Resurrection further with resources like these: The Reason for God: Belief in an Age of Skepticism, by Timothy Keller (2008, Dutton); The Case for Christ, by Lee Strobel (1998, Zondervan); or the website www.leaderu.com/offices/billcraig/docs/bodily.html.

—Study by Lee Eclou, with Kyle White

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

Participant's Guide

Participant's Guide

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

There is life after victory.

As Christians, we believe that Jesus rose from the dead and that he now holds the keys to death's dungeon. This study has explored some of what the Bible teaches about the significance—the meaning—of the resurrection for our lives. Its focus has been to help us move this central tenet of faith front and center in our thinking. At the conclusion of this study in 1 Corinthians 15, there is one verse of Scripture that tells us how believing the resurrection should affect the way we live now. The apostle Paul wrote in verse 58: "Therefore, my dear brothers, stand firm. Let nothing move you. Always give yourselves fully to the work of the Lord, because you know that your labor in the Lord is not in vain." This discussion will explore two effects our belief in the resurrection ought to have upon us as Christians.

Scripture: 1 Corinthians 15:58

Based On: "Life After Victory," by Lee Eclov, PreachingToday.com

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

Participant's Guide

Part 1 Identify the Issue

Early in his career, the great American playwright Eugene O'Neill wrote an imaginative play called "Lazarus Laughed" about Lazarus's life after Jesus raised him from the dead. Near the beginning of the play, guests from Bethany are gathering for a banquet in Lazarus's honor. They are all desperate to hear what Lazarus has to say about his experience. One guest says, "The whole look of his face has changed. He is like a stranger from a far land. There is no longer any sorrow in his eyes. They must have forgotten sorrow in the grave."

Another guest, one who had helped roll the tombstone aside, recalls the scene after Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead: "And then Lazarus knelt and kissed Jesus' feet and both of them smiled and Jesus blessed him and called him 'My Brother' and went away; and Lazarus, looking after Him, began to laugh softly like a man in love with God. Such a laugh I never heard! It made my ears drunk! It was like wine! And though I was half-dead with fright I found myself laughing, too."

It does make you wonder what Lazarus was like after Jesus raised him back to life. We assume he eventually died again, mortal as he was, but one wonders how Lazarus's life changed once he knew with certainty that Jesus really is "the resurrection and the life."

Part 2 Discover the Eternal Principles

Teaching Point One: The Resurrection empowers us to stand firm in our faith.

Teaching Point Two: Throw yourself confidently into serving the Lord.

Part 3 Apply Your Findings

The Puritan pastor Thomas Brooks, at the funeral of Mrs. Martha Randall on June 28, 1651 (almost 360 years ago), must have had verse 58 in mind when he said:

See that you build upon nothing below Christ! See that you have a real interest in Christ; see that you die daily to sin, to the world, and to your own righteousness. See that conscience is always waking, speaking, and tender. See that Christ be your Lord and Master. See that all reckonings stand right between the Lord and your souls. See that you are fruitful, faithful, and watchful—and then your dying-day shall be to you as the day of harvest to the farmer, as the day of deliverance to the prisoner, as the day of coronation to the king, and as the day of marriage to the bride. Your dying-day shall be a day of triumph and exaltation, a day of freedom and consolation, a day of rest and satisfaction! Then the Lord Jesus shall be as honey in the mouth, ointment in the nostrils, music in the ear, and a jubilee in the heart.

The Resurrection Allows Unwavering Faithfulness to Christ

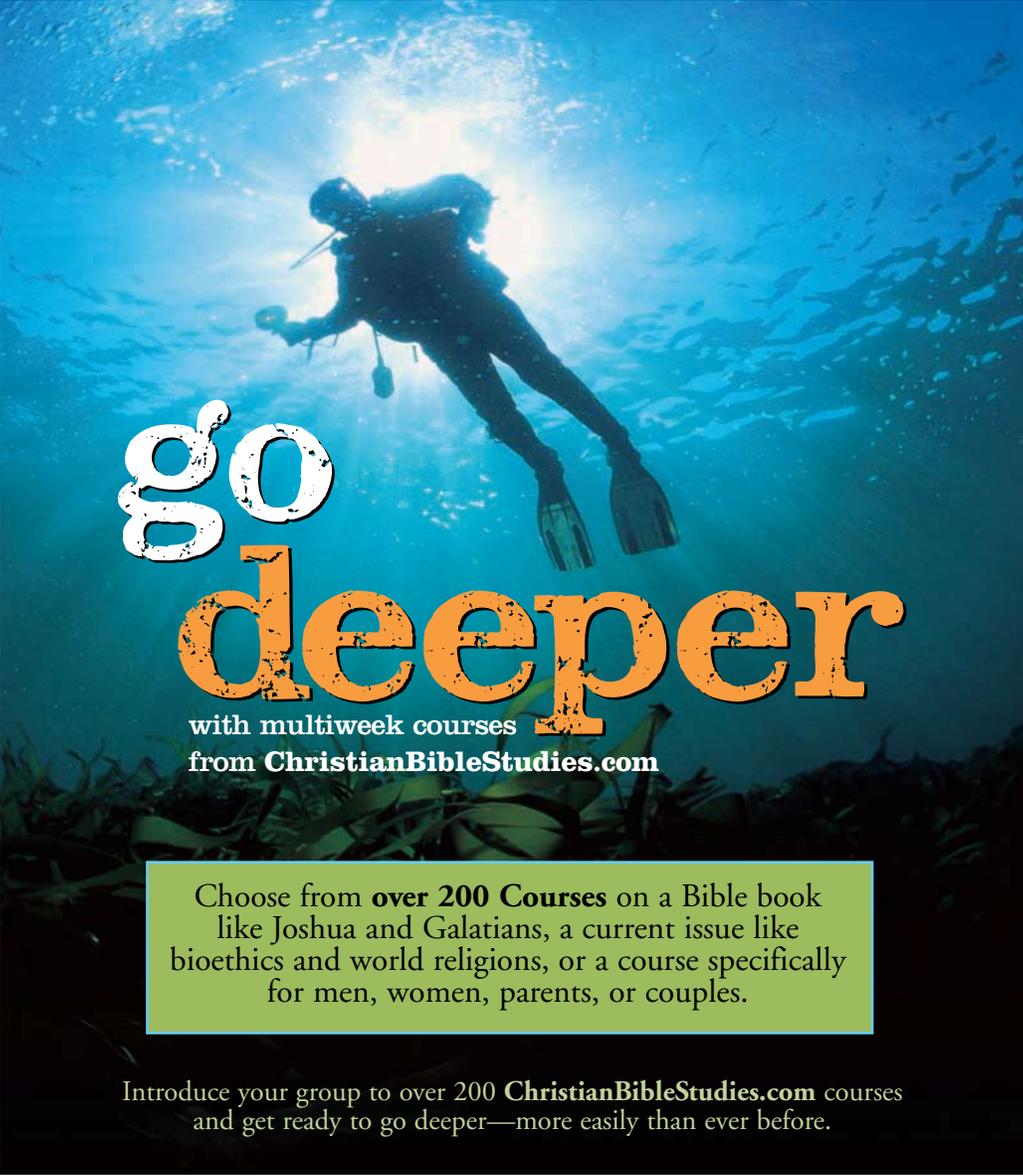

Participant's Guide

Action Point: This series started with Paul's words: "Now, brothers, I want to remind you of the gospel I preached to you, which you received and on which you have taken your stand. By this gospel you are saved, if you hold firmly to the word I preached to you. ... For what I received I passed on to you as of first importance: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures ..." Take time to explore the Resurrection further with resources like these: The Reason for God: Belief in an Age of Skepticism, by Timothy Keller (2008, Dutton); The Case for Christ, by Lee Strobel (1998, Zondervan); or the website www.leaderu.com/offices/billcraig/docs/bodily.html.

—Study by Lee Eclov, with Kyle White

go deeper

with multiweek courses
from ChristianBibleStudies.com

Choose from over 200 Courses on a Bible book like Joshua and Galatians, a current issue like bioethics and world religions, or a course specifically for men, women, parents, or couples.

Introduce your group to over 200 ChristianBibleStudies.com courses and get ready to go deeper—more easily than ever before.